TRITE BUT TRUE SAYING.

General Fred Grant made the famous remark that "a surplus is easier to handle than a deficit." This true yet true maxim should be a guiding star for all investors. Pick out an institution that has its surplus, that will guarantee your investments, take care of your principal and interest and will give securities in which one cannot fail to have the fullest confidence.

An investment which makes no yield to the investor, no matter how attractive it may appear for a yield in the future, is like the barren fig tree. Persons seeking such possibilities of enriching themselves sacrifice the present certainties for future uncertainties.

It is always possible for the timid investor to find an institution where he can see for himself that his investment is properly and securely guarded. The Salt Lake Security & Trust Co., with its capital and surplus of $400,000.00 has a long list of mortgages varying from $200 up to $18,000.00, and can accommodate any investor who is looking for a safe investment. SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper A. McCaskell expect to leave early in the year for Arizona, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Charles S. Vadner entertained Thursday afternoon with a bridge tea given at her home in compliment to Miss Stella Fabian, one of the coming brides of the new year.

Joseph Geoghegan has returned from a visit to California.

Rev. John Ryan of Ogden was a visitor in the city this week.

The dinner given by Mrs. Margaret Blaine Salisbury Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Armstrong was one of the prettiest affairs of the season at the Alta club. The gold room of the club was decorated in Christmas effect with palms and poinsettias, with a tree hung with bright ornaments and souvenirs. American Beauty roses adorned the table, with sprays of holly. Monogram place cards were laid for thirty-six.

Rev. P. Power of Livermore, Cal., remained over in Salt Lake this week on his return trip from Ireland. He reports great prosperity in the Emerald Isle.

Members of the Crystal Card club were entertained Wednesday by Mrs. James Ivers at her home in East First South street.

Mrs. Thomas Kearns, with her two boys and daughter, will spend the Christmas holidays in Salt Lake.

P. Ryan returned Monday from St. Paul, where he has spent the last couple weeks on business.

P. J. Queney came to Salt Lake this week.

DEATH OF MRS. HICKS.

Mrs. Hicks died last Wednesday. In life Mrs. Hicks was a most estimable lady, truly Christian, and beloved by all who knew her. Funeral will take place from St. Mary's cathedral Saturday. Interment will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

BINGHAM, UTAH.

(Special Correspondence.)

Judge and Mrs. Collette were visitors to the city during the week.

Mr. Michael Gibbons paid a brief visit to the camp. Old friends were glad to see him.

Mrs. Corinne Hammer was out from the city for a few days this week. The musical class which she has formed here promises to do well.

Mrs. A. Fitzgerald was in the city during the week visiting friends.

Mrs. Steve Hayes was another of the visitors to the city during the week.

Mass at Holy Rosary church on Christmas will be celebrated at 7 and 8 o'clock, with high mass and sermon at 10 o'clock, at which the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Corinna Hammer, will render an exceptionally fine musical program. The members comprising the choir are as follows: Mesdames Pat Hyland, Joe Hyland, John Hyland, Burns, Blucher, the Messrs R. Steppen, K. Steppen, A. Steppen, Adderly Bendon, M. Swan, Messrs. Felix McDonald, John O'Donnell, Kornick, Dent, Sorensen, Judge Collette, O'Meara, Fitzgerald, K. Hyland, Korkeke and Sloan.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Salt Lake council held its regular meeting last Tuesday evening. The business session was very short in order to make way for the debate which was scheduled to take place. The following conducted a debate on the following question:

"Resolved, That Martin Luther did more harm to the Catholic Church than any other reformer."

A. J. Bruneau and J. J. Harvey defended the resolution, and A. J. Gillis and James I. King attacked it. Mr. Bruneau opened the debate by citing and elaborating on twelve good reasons to support his claim.

Mr. Gillis followed, and after talking on the errors of Twingley and Calvin, spoke extensively on the crimes of Henry VIII and their results to Catholics and Catholicity.

Mr. Harvey followed and gave out many facts and figures in support of his contentions. Mr. King came next and referred to Mr. Gillis as his assistant inasmuch as he (Gillis) did all of the work, and put forth his argument in a question style.

James I. King, who had early in the debate been referred as King James I., rallied to the support of Mr. Gillis in showing that his relative, King Henry VIII, was the greatest foe the Church ever had.

The debate had its jovial as well as serious side and was much enjoyed by all who heard it.

Last Friday evening Ogden council conducted memorial services for its deceased brothers.

The present state deputy delivered a eulogy on last State Deputy Margaret Leach.

Installation of Salt Lake officers will take place Tuesday evening, January 3, followed by music, luncheon and cigars.

THE COMING CONSISTORY.

The present composition of the Sacred College of Cardinals makes it probable that the Pope will create more Italian Cardinals at an early date. It is almost certain that if Pius X died before doing so the foreign Cardinals would represent more than one-third of the total in a conclave for the election of his successor.

The Sacred College has fifty-one members today, thirty-one Italians and twenty foreigners. Of this total seven are octogenarians and nineteen are between 70 and 80. In case of a conclave it would be impossible for more than forty Cardinals at the outside to assemble at the Vatican.

Oreglia, the dean of the Sacred College, has been bedridden for two years; Di Pietro, Capocciaturo, Segna and Gruscha are likewise bedridden. Netto and Puzyna are apoplectic; Couille and Samassa are so aged and infirm that they cannot travel, and Moran of Australia, and Arcoveiro of Rio Janeiro, reside so far from Rome that they are not likely to reach here in time for a conclave.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY

The school work of December being cut short by the holidays, the reports for the month, though recorded, will not be sent to parents or guardians.

At the end of January the regular semi-annual bulletin of examination marks will bear a report in detail of all the work done by each student since her entrance, while the monthly reports will show the averages for December and January.

Among the comforting reflections which will doubtless add to the pleasure of the Christmas vacation for those inclined to be anxious about such matters, is the thought that several of their examinations are already over. Latin and algebra in the first and second academic classes were the subjects of such thorough written tests during the week as to obviate the necessity of further examination until the end of the year.

The last meeting of the fourth academic literary society was unusually interesting, the time remaining after the routine exercises being spent in debating the question: "Resolved, That knowledge is a greater source of good for mankind than wealth." Sister Superior was present and followed the argument with keen interest. The victory, though rather difficult to decide, was finally accorded the students of the negative side, Misses Sidenfaden, Davis, Chipman and Shannon.

The sodality of the Holy Angels has been reinforced by the addition of seven new members: Alice Sheehan, Bernadette Ryan, Beatrice Wilkinson, Genevieve Giles, Mary Sheridan, Margaret Reynolds and Helen Cuddihy.

American Beauty roses adorned the table, with sprays of holly. Monogram place cards were laid for thirty-six.

Rev. P. Power of Livermore, Cal., remained over in Salt Lake this week on his return trip from Ireland. He reports great prosperity in the Emerald Isle.

A Longfellow Program.

A very delightful morning was spent with the third preparatory class when they reviewed for the benefit of interested listeners the poems of their class author studied since September. The recitation of the poems, shown by their careful recitations proved that they had given the poems exact study, and brought to the task an appreciation of the author who so loved the children. Oral reproductions of parts of "The Song of Roland" were delivered in an exceedingly creditable manner. The masterpiece has been the matter of supplementary reading during the past month.

Examinations.

Tests, oral and written, have occupied the attention of the classes during the past week. Earnestness seems to be the keynote of the work, and the anticipation of Christmas pleasures makes even examinations bearable. The new girls, many of whom never passed through the ordeal of semi-annual examinations, realize that things in this world are not "half so bad as they are painted," for these misses are quite alive after having shared the fate of their more experienced sisters.

Pupils are expected to return January 8, so that regular work may begin January 9, 1911. This time limit is set as an efficient period for relaxation and pleasure.

Art Display.

The amount of excellent work done by the pupils, most of it in the form of Christmas gifts, was exhibited in the library Tuesday evening, and was proof indeed that busy hands and busy hearts had been at work for months past. Dainty china, most artistically decorated, work in leather and brass, were most prominent, while downy cushions were exceedingly inviting. As these pieces are all taken to the homes of the respective pupils at Christmas time, it is an excellent idea to exhibit it before permitting it to leave the institution.

An Old Friend.

Rev. J. B. Thompson, Butte, Mont., a name that makes every Sacred Heart girl rejoice, spent Monday at the academy. His visit was the more welcome from the fact that he has been ill for some weeks, and friends of Sacred Heart were anxious, now solitude has given place to rejoicing.

OGDEN NEWS.

Mrs. Murphy of Ohio is visiting in the city, the guest of her son, Mr. Charles Murphy, who, for the past several years has been associated with the Kiesel firm of Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney McCabe left Tuesday morning for Washington, D. C., where they will spend the holiday season with their son, Mr. George McCabe, and his family. They expect to return within two months' time.

Mrs. D. A. Seery entertained a few of her friends Thursday afternoon at her cosy home on Washington avenue, and a very pleasant time was reported.

The many friends of Mr. John Nolan will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from his recent illness which has confined him to his bed for the past few months.

Mr. Scott Farney is busy receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little daughter Monday morning, December 19, at his home on Twenty-fifth street.

The League of the Sacred Heart will meet Wednesday afternoon, December 25, with Mrs. M. J. Moran at her home on Adams avenue.

The most elaborate social function of the gay winter season of 1910, now so swiftly served by the six young ladies, "500" party given Friday evening and Saturday afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. Ezra Rich at their beautiful home on Washington avenue.

The spacious rooms were gorgeously decorated in holiday attire and were more closely within the magic circle of the Christmas tide, a profusion of holly, handsome bows of deep red ribbon and beautiful shower bouquets of crimson carnations proved most appropriate for the occasion and at the same time most attractive. The all important mistletoe played a prominent part in this exceedingly pretty party, and was the source of much amusement.

Saturday afternoon and evening previous was given to card playing, followed by an elaborate turkey dinner, graciously served by six young ladies. After several hours of fun and merriment at the "festal board" the large number of handsomely gowned ladies and perfectly groomed gentlemen departed, voting Dr. Rich and his charming wife the best of entertainers. Several parties from Salt Lake came up to attend the affair.

TRUE TO MARRIAGE BOND.

The evidence before the commission on divorce in England continues to show the value of Catholicism as a defense of the marriage bond. We all remember the words of St. John Bigham at the opening of the commission. He said: "My experience shows me that members of the Roman Catholic Church seldom come to our court, and I attribute that fact to the great influence of their priesthood, and the fact that they are much more amongst Roman Catholics for the marriage vow."

Last week Dr. Glyn Whittle of Liverpool bore witness in a similar strain. His evidence has all the greater weight since he spoke in favor of divorce. He had, he said, questioned countless poor women, victims of habitual cruelty, as to whether they would avail themselves of divorce if they could get it. The answers had been most impressive. Protestants said "Yes," Roman Catholics said "No." He could not recall a single Protestant exception. What is the cause of such laxity of view amongst Protestants, and such strictness of view amongst Catholics? A member of the council of the Eugenics society, writing in the Daily Dispatch of November 11, hits off the answer perfectly. "Only in Catholicism," he says, "is marriage a sacrament. Protestantism will have none of it. The Reformation, in this as in other points a revolt from Catholicism, expressly declared that marriage is not a sacrament, that it is essentially a secular matter."—London Catholic Universe.

CANADA'S CATHOLIC PREMIER.

Premier Laurier of Canada has celebrated his 69th birthday. He has a long and distinguished political record. When about 35 years old he was a member of the Quebec legislature. He entered the federal parliament in 1874, of which body he has been a member for thirty-six years, and for fourteen years he has been head of the government.

RECENT CONVERTS.

The Honorable Laura Lister, daughter of Lord Ribblesdale, and niece of the wife of Premier Asquith. Mrs. Raupert, wife of Dr. Godfrey Raupert, the eminent lecturer on Spiritualism and author. (Dr. Raupert was formerly an Anglican clergyman.) James Reginald Morshead Glenross, LL. B., M. A., Trinity college, Cambridge. Reginald Bull, B. A., Corpus Christi college, Cambridge. Francis M. Mills, B. A., Corpus Christi college, Cambridge, son of the Rev. Dr. Mills. Robert Gordon Roe, of Halesbury college; late of Selwyn college, Cambridge; secretary of the Cambridge Boy Scouts. John Alexander Herbert, B. A., John's college, Cambridge; assistant in the manuscript department of the British Museum since 1887; son of the late Rev. S. A. Herbert, rector of St. John's, Gateshead, Durham. Geoffrey Melsom-Smith, Sherborne school, and Trinity college, Cambridge. George Percy Bailey, Eccles grammar school, M. A., Trinity college, Dublin, extension lecturer for Cambridge university; late principal of the Victoria Institute, Worcester. Captain H. Ward, of the British navy. Hon. Maynard Mathews, one of the chief magistrates of Natal, prominent in Anglican and Masonic circles.

THE HEAD POISE.

Do you sigh to be called a stylish-looking woman? Consider the poise of your head. You may have taste and money to gratify it, but you will never show off your clothes if you turtly your head, thrust out your chin, carry your neck to one side or draw your whole body and carriage rigid. A French woman when asked why her country women usually had such finely poised heads, said it was because they were taught to show the tops of their collars. Most of us hide our collar-tops, as the condition of our collars shows. Try to reach the simple rule of showing the collar edge and you will quickly assume the head poise of a thoroughbred. If you have a double chin this rule holds doubly good. Do not think that by drawing in the rolls of flesh you diminish or conceal them.

BIG CLOCK AND CHIMES.

St. Francis de Sales church, Cincinnati, will soon enjoy those Westminster chimes. The cost will be $6,000. The clock will have the Westminster chimes and will strike the hour and quarter hours, the quarter chimes being cut off automatically at midnight so as not to disturb the slumbers of neighborhood residents. It will be the largest quarter-striking clock in that city. The dials will be illuminated at night and will be seen for squares. The new clock will be wound electrically, its pendulum will have a length of fourteen feet. It is expected that the clock will be in place and in working order before Easter.

ONE KIND OF ANONYMITY.

Booker T. Washington, at the National Negro Business league's convention in New York last month, praised the modesty of the anonymous giver. "But, of course," he added, with a smile, "when I praise anonymity I don't include the kind—common enough among philanthropists—that Deacon Brown of Leachapoka favored."

"Leachapoka is a little place not far from Tuskegee. Deacon Brown arose in the church there one Sunday morning to read a list of subscribers to the missionary fund. He began: 'The Rev. Calhoun Travers, $10; Brother Stephen, $5; Sister Broebie Rice, $1; anonymous donor, myself, $6.'—New York Press.

Father Powers is returning from a year's stay abroad, the greater part of the time having been spent in Ireland. Sister M. Alex of St. Mary's academy, Salt Lake, and Sister M. J. of St. Mary's school, Park City, were also welcome callers.

Mrs. Mabel Shepard, Houghton, '06, accompanied by her husband, Mr. George Houghton, were among Sunday's guests. Mr. and Mrs. Houghton reside in Salt Lake, and visit to the Junction City is a pleasant diversion.

Mrs. J. C. Cronin, Butte, Mont., is rejoiced to find her daughter Kathleen so perfectly at home at Sacred Heart, where she is making an excellent record in class subjects and in music. Mrs. Cronin came to Ogden Monday and remained to accompany her daughter home.

A Longfellow Program.

A very delightful morning was spent with the third preparatory class when they reviewed for the benefit of interested listeners the poems of their class author studied since September. The recitation of the poems, shown by their careful recitations proved that they had given the poems exact study, and brought to the task an appreciation of the author who so loved the children. Oral reproductions of parts of "The Song of Roland" were delivered in an exceedingly creditable manner. The masterpiece has been the matter of supplementary reading during the past month.

Examinations.

Tests, oral and written, have occupied the attention of the classes during the past week. Earnestness seems to be the keynote of the work, and the anticipation of Christmas pleasures makes even examinations bearable. The new girls, many of whom never passed through the ordeal of semi-annual examinations, realize that things in this world are not "half so bad as they are painted," for these misses are quite alive after having shared the fate of their more experienced sisters.

Pupils are expected to return January 8, so that regular work may begin January 9, 1911. This time limit is set as an efficient period for relaxation and pleasure.

Art Display.

The amount of excellent work done by the pupils, most of it in the form of Christmas gifts, was exhibited in the library Tuesday evening, and was proof indeed that busy hands and busy hearts had been at work for months past. Dainty china, most artistically decorated, work in leather and brass, were most prominent, while downy cushions were exceedingly inviting. As these pieces are all taken to the homes of the respective pupils at Christmas time, it is an excellent idea to exhibit it before permitting it to leave the institution.

An Old Friend.

Rev. J. B. Thompson, Butte, Mont., a name that makes every Sacred Heart girl rejoice, spent Monday at the academy. His visit was the more welcome from the fact that he has been ill for some weeks, and friends of Sacred Heart were anxious, now solitude has given place to rejoicing.

OGDEN NEWS.

Mrs. Murphy of Ohio is visiting in the city, the guest of her son, Mr. Charles Murphy, who, for the past several years has been associated with the Kiesel firm of Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney McCabe left Tuesday morning for Washington, D. C., where they will spend the holiday season with their son, Mr. George McCabe, and his family. They expect to return within two months' time.

Mrs. D. A. Seery entertained a few of her friends Thursday afternoon at her cosy home on Washington avenue, and a very pleasant time was reported.

The many friends of Mr. John Nolan will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from his recent illness which has confined him to his bed for the past few months.

Mr. Scott Farney is busy receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little daughter Monday morning, December 19, at his home on Twenty-fifth street.

The League of the Sacred Heart will meet Wednesday afternoon, December 25, with Mrs. M. J. Moran at her home on Adams avenue.

The most elaborate social function of the gay winter season of 1910, now so swiftly served by the six young ladies, "500" party given Friday evening and Saturday afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. Ezra Rich at their beautiful home on Washington avenue.

The spacious rooms were gorgeously decorated in holiday attire and were more closely within the magic circle of the Christmas tide, a profusion of holly, handsome bows of deep red ribbon and beautiful shower bouquets of crimson carnations proved most appropriate for the occasion and at the same time most attractive. The all important mistletoe played a prominent part in this exceedingly pretty party, and was the source of much amusement.

Saturday afternoon and evening previous was given to card playing, followed by an elaborate turkey dinner, graciously served by six young ladies. After several hours of fun and merriment at the "festal board" the large number of handsomely gowned ladies and perfectly groomed gentlemen departed, voting Dr. Rich and his charming wife the best of entertainers. Several parties from Salt Lake came up to attend the affair.

TRUE TO MARRIAGE BOND.

The evidence before the commission on divorce in England continues to show the value of Catholicism as a defense of the marriage bond. We all remember the words of St. John Bigham at the opening of the commission. He said: "My experience shows me that members of the Roman Catholic Church seldom come to our court, and I attribute that fact to the great influence of their priesthood, and the fact that they are much more amongst Roman Catholics for the marriage vow."

The Best Gift

One central idea of friendly well wishing underlies all Christmas presents given in the right spirit. You remember your friends, big and little, and the token of remembrance is simply the visible evidence of esteem and affection.

This leads to the suggestion: Why not give a present that will work permanently for the benefit of the friend? For instance, open an account with our savings department for him. One dollar will suffice and, if you wish, we shall send the pass book so as to reach the recipient on the day before Christmas.
